

Islip, NY – Islip Town Councilman John Edwards (front row, second from left) recently visited North Middle School in Brentwood, where he presented a group of students and teachers with certificates of recognition for their contributions to raising awareness for breast cancer.

Health Educator Ms. Amanda Wisset brought this important issue to the attention of her students, who responded by collecting donations from friends and family members. The students raised over $1,700 for the American Cancer Society. Some of these same students and teachers also participated in the Making Strides Against Breast Cancer Walk at Jones Beach.

Councilman Edwards is pictured with students and teachers at North Middle School.